Simple to Use Employee Performance Reviews. Native to iSolved.

Employers of all sizes rely on performance reviews to assess employee performance and determine things like future goals and salary increases. iSolved, a leader within the human capital management (HCM) industry, gives employers the flexibility to create completely customized performance reviews that fit with the needs of their organizations. Instead of being stuck with form questions and answers, you can build your own performance reviews with specific questions that will give the feedback you need to effectively evaluate each staff member.

The performance reviews in iSolved are user-friendly and simple to create. Get started by creating reviews based on how often your company conducts them, whether it is quarterly, annually, or anywhere in between. From there, the wizard tool guides you through a creation of questions that will help you assess the performance of each employee.

You can also set up email alerts that generate automatically to inform managers and/or employees that performance reviews are coming up. The alert feature includes the option to send reminders to all required parties until the performance review is complete.
